PowerPoint Presentation

As part of the conclusion of the course, you must create a PowerPoint presentation that highlights the information that you have learned. The presentation may be of any activity that you chose to complete, a general Roman coin presentation, a presentation on a specific event in Roman history, or Roman ruins.

Your PowerPoint Presentation should include the following:

- At least 6 slides, including a title and references slide.
- Pictures! A picture is worth a thousand words. The coins can be great props to spruce up any presentation.
- Some way of showing new things that you learned.
- Be sure to use proper grammar, capital letters, good topic sentences, and vivid details to get the reader to the point of almost looking over your shoulder!

This presentation is meant to showcase the work that you completed for the project. Put your best effort in, and be proud of what you did and learned. It is a great way to show people what you did during this project time!
